GERMANY ARRAIGNED FOR BREAKING TREATY

Secretary Lansing Makes Public Protocol Designed to Give Immunity from Ancient Prussian Pledges and Cites Flagrant Violations—Rejects Protocol.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 26.—Germany again today was bitterly arraigned by the United States for its flagrant violation of treaty obligations. Secretary Lansing, in permitting publication of the protocol designed to give Germans immunity conferred in the Prussian treaties of 1785, 1799 and 1828, threw the spotlight of publicity on German efforts to hold the United States to a one-sided agreement.

The secretary in this correspondence, sent to the Swiss minister, who represents German interests in the United States, declares flatly that Germany has consistently violated all of the provisions of this treaty commencing with the sinking of the American schooner Frye. He makes it plain that in his opinion the actual treaties themselves have been made inoperative by the German actions although the correspondence itself simply reflects the proposed protocol. In connection with the treaty pledge the secretary says:

"I feel constrained in view of the circumstances cited to add that this government is seriously considering whether or not the treaty of 1828 and the revised articles of the treaty of 1785 and 1799 have not been, in effect, abrogated by the German government's flagrant violation of these provisions, for it would be manifest, by unjust and inequitable to require one party to an agreement to observe its stipulations and permit the other to disregard them.

It appears that the mutuality of understanding has been destroyed by the conduct of the German authorities.

Obligations Not Binding?

Throughout the entire communication Secretary Lansing says German methods. Referring to the fact that since diplomatic relations were severed American citizens have been prevented from removing freely from Germany, the secretary declares that this indicates that Germany proposes not to be bound by its obligations to grant that right.

The Lansing communication is as follows:

The Secretary of State to the Minister of Switzerland in charge of German interests in America.

Department of State, Washington, March 26, 1917.

Sir: I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your note of February 10th presenting the proposals of the German government for an interpretation and supplementary agreement as to article 23 of the treaty of 1799. After due consideration, I have to inform you that the government of the United States is not disposed to look with favor upon the proposed agreement to alter or supplement the meaning of article 23 of this treaty. This position of the government of the United States, which might under other conditions be different, is due to the repeated violations by Germany of the treaty of 1828 and the articles of the treaties of 1785 and 1799 revived by the treaty of 1828. It is not necessary to narrate in detail these violations, for the attention of the German government has been called to the circumstances of each instance of violation, but I may here refer to certain of them briefly and in general terms.

"Since the sinking of the American steamer William P. Frye for the carriage of contraband, there have been perpetrated by the German naval forces similar unwarranted attacks upon and destruction of numerous American vessels for the reasons, as alleged, that they were engaged in transportation of articles contraband, notwithstanding and in disregard of article 13 of the treaty of 1799.

In addition to the sinking of American vessels, foreign merchant vessels carrying American citizens and American property have been sunk by German submarines without warning and without any adequate security for the safety of the persons on board, or compensation for the destruction of the property by such action, notwithstanding the solemn engagement of Article 13 of the treaty of 1799 that "All persons belonging to any vessel of war, public or private, who shall molest or injure in any manner whatever the people, vessels or effects of the other party, shall be responsible in their persons and property for damages and interests, sufficient security for which shall be given by all commanders of private armed vessels before they are commissioned, and notwithstanding the further stipulation of article 12 of the treaty of 1828 that "free intercourse and commerce of the subjects or citizens of the party remaining neutral with belligerent powers shall not be interrupted." Disregarding these obligations, the German government has proclaimed certain zones of the high seas in which it declared without reservation that all ships, including those of neutrals, will be sunk in those zones German submarines have, in fact, in accordance with this declaration, ruthlessly sunk merchant vessels and jeopardized or destroyed the lives of American citizens on board.

Americans Restrained.

"Moreover, since the severance of relations between the United States and Germany, certain American citizens in Germany have been prevented from removing freely from the country. While this is not a violation of the terms of the treaties mentioned, it is a disregard of the reciprocal liberty of intercourse between the two countries in time of peace, and cannot be taken otherwise than as an indication of a purpose on the part of the German government to disregard in the event of war the similar liberty of action provided for in article 23 of the treaty of 1799—the very article which it is now proposed to interpret and supplement almost wholly in the interest of the large number of German subjects, residing in the United States and enjoying in their persons or property the protection of the United States government. This article provides in effect that merchants of either country residing in the other shall be allowed a stated time in which to remain to settle their affairs and to depart freely, carrying off all their effects without molestation or hindrance, and women and children, artisans and certain others, may continue their respective employments and shall not be molested in their persons or property." It is now proposed by the Imperial German government to enlarge the scope of this article so as to grant to German subjects and German property remaining in the United States in time of war the same treatment in many respects as that enjoyed by neutral subjects and neutral property in the United States.

Declines to Take Step.

"In view of the clear violations by the German authorities of the plain terms of the treaties in question, solemnly concluded on the mutual understanding that the obligations thereunder would be faithfully kept, in view further of the disregard of the canons of international courtesy and the comity of nations in the treatment of innocent civilians in Germany, the government of the United States cannot perceive any advantage which would flow from further engagements, even though they were merely declaratory of international law, entered into with the Imperial German Government.

"I feel constrained in view of the circumstances cited to add that this government is seriously considering whether or not the treaty of 1828 and the revised articles of the treaties of 1785 and 1799 have not been in effect abrogated by the German Government's flagrant violations of their provisions for it would be manifestly unjust and inequitable to require one party to an agreement to observe its stipulations and to permit the other party to disregard them. It would appear that the mutuality of the understanding has been destroyed by the conduct of the German authorities.

(Signed) ROBERT LANSING, Secretary Lansing today pointed out that what action shall be taken should be determined that Germany, by her actions, has in effect nullified in every way the existing Prussian treaties was something for the senate to decide. That body is the treaty-confirming branch of the government.

The question of whether Germans in the United States shall be interned in the event of war and whether German property shall be taken over by this government are among the real problems which congress must pass upon. Meanwhile, Secretary Lansing indicated this government will not change its present attitude.

London Loan 25 Cents.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, March 26.—The cost of a four pound loaf of bread was today increased to 25 cents, the highest price charged in London in sixty-two years. For the first time a mixture of other cereals is being used with flour in the manufacture of bread, this being made necessary in the government's program for the conservation of wheat. The price of bread has increased 13 cents since the outbreak of the war.

Saturday Sergeant Hanley received word from the Brooklyn police asking the local police to make an effort to find Sophia Marks, 16 years old, who had run away from her home in Brooklyn, and it was thought had come to Kingston. The girl was located Saturday afternoon, and Sunday her parents claimed her and took her back home.

TWO GERMANS SHOT TRYING TO ESCAPE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Philadelphia, March 26.—Two members of the crew of the interned German commerce raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich were shot early today by marines on guard near the ship when they tried to make their escape from the Philadelphia navy yard.

The break for liberty was arranged by the Germans to avoid being transported today to United States forts in Georgia.

Soon after midnight when the cruiser Salem threw its searchlight on the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, several men were seen swimming from the ship toward the shore. An alarm was sounded and the marines began a fusillade of shots. At the sound of the shots mounted policemen stationed on the shore started to head off the escaping men. It is said that none of the men got away.

With the departure of the interned German sailors fixed definitely for today the marine sentries and mounted policemen who have been on guard for days at League Island declared that an investigation will show much of the machinery aboard the raider had been broken into scrap iron. Since Wednesday, these watchers stated, the sound of the hammer has been heard almost constantly.

Information as to how seriously the German sailors were wounded was refused by the authorities.

REWARD OFFERED FOR A FIRE BUG

Everett and Treadwell Seek Information of Would-be Incendiary—Firemen Responded to Still Alarm.

An attempt to set fire to one of the buildings of Everett & Treadwell on Broadway, near the West Shore crossing, shortly before eleven o'clock Sunday night was promptly followed this morning by the offer of a reward of $100 by that firm for information which will lead to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who started the fire, the advertisement of which appears in another column.

The fire had been started among some boxes and rubbish which had been allowed to accumulate near a frame building which adjoins the large brick store and elevator. Boxes had been gathered together and excelsior had been pulled from one of the boxes so that they would blaze quickly.

The fire had gained only slight headway when the flame was discovered at 10:50 o'clock from the West Shore station, where a still alarm was immediately sent to the central fire station. The firemen succeeded in extinguishing the blaze without much difficulty, and investigation by Chief Chipp disclosed the arrangements which had been made by the incendiary.

Ice Cream Stops Runaway.

A runaway that threatened to be of serious proportions occurred Saturday afternoon in Poughkeepsie when a team of spirited horses, owned by Albert Brenner of Highland, dashed madly down Church street on becoming frightened by the report of a bursting automobile tire near them, and wound up at the corner of Union and Jefferson streets. Had it not been that one of the horses fell over an ice cream pail, the horses would have wrecked the Utman store at the corner. One of the horses went through the window of the store and suffered a gash in the shoulder.

STEAMER NEWBURGH SINKS COAL BARGE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Friday Night at New York—Floating Ice in River—No Date Fixed for Opening of Towing Season.

Friday evening the steamer Newburgh, of the Central Hudson line, collided with an empty coal barge in the North river on her up trip to Newburgh. The barge, which was struck amidship and almost cut in two, sank off 60th street after being pushed ashore by the Newburgh. No lives were lost nor was any of the crew injured on either boat. The Newburgh continued on to Newburgh, arriving there at about 11 o'clock. The forward main deck of the Newburgh was completely stripped of all standing gear clear back to the pilot house. The damage to the Newburgh amounts to about $500, and while the upper works are damaged it will not interfere with the Newburgh continuing her regular trips. The collision is said to be due to reversed signals.

While the river is full of floating ice it does not interfere with the trips of the Odell and Ramsdell, of the Central Hudson line, which are making regular trips between this port and New York. No date has been fixed as yet for the line to run on the Albany route.

Owing to the fact that the river is full of floating ice, no date for the opening of the towing season between Rondout and New York has been announced.

Navigation between Catskill and New York was resumed today when the freighter Storm King, of the Catskill Evening Line, left New York for Catskill. It was expected that she would encounter no difficulty in getting through.

ST. LOUIS SAFE IN ENGLISH PORT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 26.—The American liner St. Louis has arrived safely in an English port.

This information reached the navy department today and was made public by Secretary Daniels.

In announcing the arrival of the St. Louis, Secretary Daniels explained that she reached her destination at 11 o'clock today. She is the first American liner to leave her port since President Wilson ordered into effect the policy of "armed neutrality" toward the German submarine.

Officials of the navy department were jubilant over the passage of the St. Louis. It means, they pointed out, that at last the German blockade of American commerce has been ended. The St. Louis carried American mails and natural precautions for her safety had been taken.

HISTORY WILL BE MADE THIS WEEK

President Wilson at Work Upon Message to Congress—Mobilization of Militia and Raising of Recruits for Navy Being Carried on With Celerity.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 26.—History must be made during the current week. Next Monday an extraordinary session of the 65th congress will assemble in the capitol. It will receive from President Wilson a complete account of his stewardship since the last congress adjourned. It will be made fully acquainted with the intolerable conditions which have accompanied the placing into effect of the policy of armed neutrality by this government against Germany.

The murder of Americans on the high seas through torpedoing vessels without warning; the unwarranted detention within Germany of American consular officials; the forced withdrawal of American relief workers and Minister Whitlock from Belgian soil, abandoning to want millions of destitute and many other acts of unfriendliness by Germany toward this nation will be recited. And then responsibility for the next step will be shifted to the body which under the constitution has the authority to declare war—congress.

During the next seven days President Wilson will complete his message to congress. The final draft of the document will hardly be ready until a very few hours before the extraordinary session of congress convenes. Speculation as to its contents is unnecessary. The president and the nation are united on what the answer to foreign aggression must be. The only difference that will arise will be how far this government shall go in its reply. And that will be a subject for discussion on the floor of the senate and of the house by the members of the new congress, everyone of whom is fresh from sensing the views of his constituents.

Officials today emphasized the ordering to duty by the war department of fourteen regiments of National Guard as in every way a "policy move." Local authorities in the various states affected were unable, except at an almost prohibitive expense, to arrange for necessary necessary guard duty along public utility lines. The war department had the means at its command and it acted. The work that each unit shall do is left entirely to the discretion of the commanding officer of the department affected. No orders will go from here. The commander in general, on the ground, will decide on plans of mobilization and duty.

One subject under wide discussion today was the establishment of two additional army departments in the country. Shifting of General Leonard Wood from Governor's Island, where he has reigned supreme over the department of the east, to command the new southeastern department, has caused much comment. Naturally the war department has no explanations to make. But officers point out that the new department is strategic in character, and that under ordinary circumstances General Wood was eligible for transfer from the department of the east inasmuch as every other commander who was moved in the shift sent him to New York has since been transferred.

Under the new plan congestion will be avoided.

The navy department today was looking for immediate results in its campaign for recruits. Action of President Wilson in raising by proclamation the enlisted strength to 87,000 men was expected to be followed by a flood of enlistments. Secretary Daniels has appealed to the newspapers of the country to aid him in his campaign for recruits and he believes that the men wanted will be available at once.

The state department, through the Swiss minister here and the Spanish ambassador at Berlin, has begun endeavors to learn how many American citizens there are in the prisoners brought to Germany by the commerce raider Moewe when it returned to German waters after its last raid on Entente shipping. Unofficial word that there were 34 Americans on the British steamer Esmeraldas has caused concern. The vessel was in the horse transport service between Newport News and Liverpool and reports from the former city today said that Americans were muleteers and "undoubtedly prisoners."

MANY SHIPS SUNK WITHIN FEW DAYS IS BERLIN CLAIM

Total Gross Tonnage of 80,000 Destroyed by Submarines Included Coal, Food and Oil.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Berlin, via Sayville wireless, March 26.—In addition to shipping losses already published in March, German submarines during the last few days have sunk 25 steamships, 14 sailing vessels and 37 trawlers, the Overseas News Agency announced today. These 76 vessels had a total gross tonnage of 80,000.

It is announced also that on March 9 a British biplane was shot down by a U-boat in the English channel.

The United States steamers Illinois and City of Memphis were contained in the list.

The American ship Vigilance was not included in the list of U-boat victims, but it mentions an unidentified tanker, which is probably the Vigilance.

The Overseas News Agency enumerates the sunken ships and says: "With these ships, so far as could be ascertained, were destroyed 14,000 tons of coal, majority of which was consigned to France; 5,000 tons of kerosene oil; 5,500 tons of ore from Huvela; 2,000 tons of wheat; 2,500 tons of grain; 9,500 (tons) of victuals, not to mention fish sunk on the trawlers."

GERMANS PREPARE DRIVE ON RUSSIA

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, March 26.—Hoping that the revolution has weakened Russia's military strength, the Germans are making preparations for a mighty effort to crush the Muscovite nation.

But Russia will not be caught napping. Despatches from Petrograd today stated that reinforcements of men and guns are being rushed to the Dvina river front, between Riga and Dyvinsk, where von Hindenburg is expected to strike.

Powerful forces of German troops have been concentrated there with thousands of guns and mountains of ammunition for an effort to smash through and capture Petrograd.

A despatch to the Times says that the belief is firm in Russia that, if the Kaiser makes a triumphant entry into Petrograd and humbles Russia, one of his terms will be the reinstatement of Nicholas Romanoff on the throne as Czar of all the Russias.

Stirring proclamations are being issued to the army and the people by War Minister Gucheff. No effort is being made in Russia to hide the perils which beset the new provisional government. It is admitted that members of the Socialist and workmen's party have begun a strong propaganda in favor of peace. The workmen are threatening strikes to further their purpose. Discontent prevails in some parts of the army. In addition to fighting the Germans, and the "dark forces" of the late autocratic government, the Duma ministry must contend with army cabals.

Just when the Teutons will launch their drive is not known. No effort is expected within the next fortnight or so. Troops released by the German retreat in France are pouring into the eastern theater of war, says dispatches from Russia.

General Dimitrieff, who left the Bulgarian army to fight with the Russians, has been sent to the northern end of the western front to help direct defensive operations.

The report is current in Petrograd that Field Marshal von Hindenburg, the German chief of staff, may direct the German offensive in person and that his efforts may be met on the field of battle by those of General Alekseeff, acting commander-in-chief of the Russian armies who is now at western headquarters.

Barn Burned Saturday.

A barn owned by George Washburn on Locust avenue was destroyed by fire of unknown origin on Saturday afternoon at 5:25 o'clock. A still alarm was sent in to the fire department, but owing to the fact that the barn was located out in the woods away from water facilities it was impossible to fight the flames.

GERMANY ARRAIGNED FOR BREAKING TREATY

Secretary Lansing Makes Public Protocol Designed to Give Immunity from Ancient Prussian Pledges and Cites Flagrant Violations—Rejects Protocol.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 26.—Germany again today was bitterly arraigned by the United States for its flagrant violation of treaty obligations. Secretary Lansing, in permitting publication of the protocol designed to give Germans immunity conferred in the Prussian treaties of 1799 and 1828, threw the onus of the violation of the treaty on Germany. He declared that the United States is a peace-loving nation and that it is not its policy to hold the United States to a one-sided agreement.

The secretary in this correspondence, sent to the Swiss minister, who represents German interests in the United States, declares flatly that Germany has consistently violated all of the provisions of this treaty commencing with the sinking of the American schooner Frye. He makes it plain that in his opinion the actual treaties themselves have been made inoperative by the German actions although the correspondence itself simply rejects the proposed protocol. In connection with the treaty pledges the secretary says:

"I feel constrained in view of the circumstances cited to add that this government is seriously considering whether or not the treaty of 1828 and the revised articles of the treaty of 1799 have not been, in effect, abrogated by the German government's flagrant violation of these provisions, for it would be manifestly unjust and inequitable to require one party to an agreement to observe its stipulations and permit the other to disregard them.

It appears that the mutuality of the agreement has been destroyed by the conduct of the German authorities."

Obligations Not Binding?

Throughout the entire communication Secretary Lansing flays German methods. Referring to the fact that since diplomatic relations were severed American citizens have been removed from Germany, the secretary declares that this indicates that Germany proposes not to be bound by its obligations to grant the right.

The Lansing communication is as follows: "The Secretary of State to the Minister of Switzerland in charge of German interests in America, Department of State, Washington, March 26, 1917.

"I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your note of February 10th presenting the proposals of the German government for an interpretation and supplementary agreement as article 23 of the treaty of 1799. After due consideration, I have to inform you that the government of the United States is not disposed to look with favor upon the proposed agreement to alter or supplement the meaning of article 23 of this treaty. This position of the government of the United States, which might under other conditions be different, is due to the repeated violations by Germany of the treaty of 1828 and the articles of the treaties of 1799 and 1828 which these violations, for the attention of the German government has been called to the circumstances of each instance of violation, but I may refer to certain of them briefly in general terms.

"Since the sinking of the American schooner William P. Disregarding these stipulations, the German government has proclaimed certain zones of the seas in which it declared without reservation that all ships, including those of neutrals, will be sunk in those zones German submarines have, in fact, in accordance with this declaration, ruthlessly sunk merchant vessels and jeopardized or destroyed the lives of American citizens on board.

Americans Restrained.

"Moreover, since the severance of relations between the United States and Germany, certain American citizens in Germany have been prevented from removing freely from the country. While this is not a violation of the terms of the treaties mentioned, it is a disregard of the reciprocal liberty of intercourse between the two countries in time of peace, and cannot be taken otherwise than as an indication of a purpose on the part of the German government to disregard in the event of war the similar liberty of action provided for in article 23 of the treaty of 1799—the very article which it is now proposed to interpret and supplement almost wholly in the interest of the large number of German subjects residing in the United States and enjoying in their persons or property the protection of the United States government. It is now proposed by the Imperial German government to enlarge the scope of this article so as to grant to German subjects and German property remaining in the United States in time of war the same treatment in many respects as that enjoyed by neutral subjects and neutral property in the United States.

Declines to Take Step.

"In view of the clear violations by the German authorities of the plain terms of the treaties in question, solemnly concluded on the mutual understanding that the obligations thereunder would be faithfully kept, in view further of the disregard of the canons of international courtesy and the comity of nations in the treatment of innocent American citizens in Germany, the government of the United States cannot perceive any advantage which would flow from further engagements, even though they were merely declaratory of international law, entered into with the Imperial German Government in regard to the meaning of the articles of these treaties, or as supplementary to them. In these circumstances therefore, the government of the United States declines to enter into the special protocol proposed by the Imperial German Government.

"I feel constrained in view of the circumstances to add that this government is seriously considering whether or not the treaty of 1828 and the revised articles of the treaties of 1799 and 1828 have not been in effect abrogated by the German Government's flagrant violations of their provisions, for it would be manifestly unjust and inequitable to require one party to an agreement to observe its stipulations and to permit the other party to disregard them. It would appear that the mutuality of the understanding has been destroyed by the conduct of the German authorities.

"Accept, etc. "ROBERT LANSING." Secretary Lansing today pointed out that what action shall be taken should be determined that Germany, by her actions, has in effect nullified in every way the existing Prussian treaties was something for the senate to decide. That body is the treaty-conforming branch of the government.

The question of whether Germans in the United States shall be interned in the event of war and whether German property shall be taken over by this government are among the real problems which congress must pass upon. Everett and Treadwell Seek Information of Would-be Incendiary—Firemen Responded to Still Alarm.

An attempt to set fire to one of the buildings of Everett & Treadwell on Broadway, near the West Shore crossing, shortly before eleven o'clock Sunday night was promptly followed this morning by the offer of a reward of $100 by that firm for information which will lead to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who started the fire, the advertisement of which appears in another column.

The fire had been started among some boxes and rubbish which had been allowed to accumulate near a frame building which adjoins the large brick store and elevator. Boxes had been pulled together and discarded had been pulled from one of the boxes and stuffed around the boxes so that they would blaze quickly.

The fire had gained only slight headway when the flame was discovered at 10:50 o'clock from the West Shore station, where a still alarm was immediately sent to the central fire station. The firemen succeeded in extinguishing the blaze without much difficulty, and investigation by Chief Chipp disclosed the arrangements which had been made by the incendiary.

Ice Cream Stops Runaway.

A runaway that threatened to become serious proportions occurred Saturday afternoon in Poughkeepsie when a team of spirited horses, owned by Albert Bremer of Highland, dashed madly down Church street on becoming frightened by the report of a bursting automobile tire near them, and wound up at the corner of Union and Jefferson streets. Had it not been that one of the horses fell over an ice cream pail, the horses would have wrecked the Gunman store at the corner. One of the better teamsters, who was driving the team, suffered a gash in the shoulder.

STEAMER NEWBURGH SINKS COAL BARGE

Friday Night at New York—Flooding Ice in River—No Date Fixed for Opening of Towing Season.

Friday evening the steamer Newburgh, of the Central Hudson line, collided with an empty coal barge in the North river on her up trip to Newburgh. The barge, which was struck amidships and almost cut in two, sank off 60th street after being pushed ashore by the Newburgh. No lives were lost nor was any of the crew injured on either boat. The Newburgh continued on to Newburgh, arriving there at about 11 o'clock. The forward main deck of the Newburgh was completely stripped of all stowage.

While the river is full of floating ice it does not interfere with the trips of the Ogdell and Ramsdell, of the Central Hudson line, which are making regular trips between this port and New York. No date has been fixed as yet for the line to run on the Albany route.

Owing to the fact that the river is full of floating ice, no date for the opening of the towing season between Rondout and New York has been announced.

Navigation between Catskill and New York was resumed today when the freighter Storm King, of the Catskill Evening Line, left New York for Catskill. It was expected that she would encounter no difficulty in eating through.

ST. LOUIS SAFE IN ENGLISH PORT

Washington, March 26.—The American liner St. Louis has arrived safely in an English port.

This information reached the navy department today and was made public by Secretary Daniels.

In announcing the arrival of the St. Louis, Secretary Daniels explained that she reached her destination at 11 o'clock today. She is the first American liner to leave her port since President Wilson ordered into effect the policy of "armed neutrality" toward the German submarines.

Officials of the navy department were jubilant over the passage of the St. Louis. It means, they pointed out, that at least the German blockade of American commerce has been ended. The St. Louis carried American mails and natural precautions for her safety had been taken.

EASY ALONG EAST SHORE.

Brickyard Grade Crossings Eliminated by Central.

The New York Central has changed the topography of that part of Dutchess County lying between Storm King and Beacon City so that some of the old settlers would have some difficulty in recognizing the old installation of the fourth track system; the elevation of the road bed from two to seven feet above the present grade; the elimination of all brickyard surface crossings; the building of spacious subway for building yard traffic in lieu of these dangerous crossings; the erection of new brick yards, new sheds and new docks as remuneration to the adjacent property owners for the loss of the old right of way; all this immense undertaking has literally been accomplished in the past two years without delaying a single passenger or freight train or interfering with the manufacture of brick.

An ice gorge formed near Castleton last week on the site of the proposed "Castleton cut-off bridge" obstructing the contention of Col. Taylor, U. S. engineer, that no gorges had ever formed there. The Albany chamber of commerce, which is working for the opening of the Hudson river, sent a man there and had photos of the incipient gorge made, which when finished will be sent to Secretary Baker.

Chaplain Kelly to Preach.

Chaplain Kelly, of the Tenth Regiment, will deliver the Lenten sermon at St. Mary's Church on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Father Kelly spoke last Thursday at the Knights of Columbus Hall on the occasion of the presentation of an American flag to his regiment, and then displayed evidences of strong and convincing oratorical power.

HISTORY WILL BE MADE THIS WEEK

President Wilson at Work Upon Message to Congress—Mobilization of Militia and Raising of Recruits for Navy Being Carried on With Celerity.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 26.—History must be made during the current week. Next Monday an extraordinary session of the 65th congress will assemble in the capitol. It will receive from President Wilson a complete account of his stewardship since the last congress adjourned. It will be made fully acquainted with the intolerable conditions which have accompanied the playing into effect of the policy of armed neutrality by this government against Germany.

The number of Americans on the high seas through torpedoing vessels without warning; the unwarranted detention within Germany of American consular officials; the forced withdrawal of American relief workers and Minister Whitlock from Belgium soil, abandoning to want millions of destitute and many other acts of unfriendliness by Germany towards this nation will be recited. And then responsibility for the next step will be shifted to the one body which under the constitution has the authority to declare war—congress.

During the next seven days President Wilson will complete his message to congress. The final draft of the document will hardly be ready until a very few hours before the extraordinary session of congress convenes. Speculation as to its contents is unnecessary. The president and the nation are united on what the answer to foreign aggression must be. The only difference that will arise will be how far this government shall go in its reply. And that will be a subject for discussion on the floor of the senate and of the house by the members of the new congress, everyone of whom is fresh from fanning the views of his constituents.

Officials today emphasized the ordering to duty by the war department of fourteen regiments of National Guard as in every way a "police move." Local authorities in the various states affected were unable, except at an almost prohibitive expense, to arrange for obviously necessary guard duty along public utility lines. The war department had acted. The work that each unit should do is left entirely to the discretion of the commanding officer of the department affected. No orders will go from here. The command is general, on the ground, will decide on plans of mobilization and duty.

One subject under wide discussion today was the establishment of two additional army departments in the country. Shifting of General Leonard Wood from Governor's Island, where he has reigned supreme over the department of the east, to command the new southeastern department has caused much comment. Naturally the war department has no explanations to make. But officers point out that the new department is strategic in character, and that under ordinary circumstances General Wood was eligible for transfer from the department of the east inasmuch as every other commander who was moved in the shift which sent him to New York has since been transferred.

MANY SHIPS SUNK WITHIN FEW DAYS

IS BERLIN CLAIM

Total Gross Tonnage of 80,000 Tons Sunk by Submarines Included Coal, Food and Oil.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Berlin, via Sarville wireless, March 26.—In addition to shipping losses already published in March, German submarines during the last few days have sunk 25 steamships, 14 sailing vessels and 37 trawlers, the Overseas News Agency announced today. These 26 vessels had a total gross tonnage of 80,000.

It is announced also that on March 24 a British biplane was shot down by a U-boat in the English channel. The United States steamer Illinois and City of Memphis were contained in the list.

The American ship Vigilance was not included in the list of U-boat victims, but it mentions an unidentified tanker which is probably the Vigilance.

The Overseas News Agency enumerates the sunken ships and says: "With these ships, so far as could be ascertained, were destroyed 34,000 tons of coal, majority of which was consigned to France; 2,000 tons of kerosene oil; 3,300 tons of ore from Buchen to West Hartlepool; 3,300 tons of grain; 9,000 (tons) of victuals, not to mention fish sunk on the trawlers."

GERMANS PREPARE DRIVE ON RUSSIA

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, March 26.—Hopins that the revolution has weakened Russia's military strength, the Germans are making preparations for a mighty effort to crush the Muscovite nation.

But Russia will not be caught napping. Despatches from Petrograd today stated that reinforcements of men and guns are being rushed to the Dvina river front, between Riga and Dvinsk, where von Hindenburg is expected to strike.

Powerful forces of German troops have been concentrated there with thousands of guns and mountains of ammunition for an effort to smash through and capture Petrograd.

A despatch to the Times says that the belief is firm in Russia that, if the Kaiser makes a triumphant entry into Petrograd and humbles Russia, one of his terms will be the reinstatement of Nicholas Romanoff on the throne as Czar of all the Russians.

Stirring proclamations are being issued to the army and the people by War Minister Guchloff. No effort is being made in Russia to hide the plans which beset the new provisional government. It is admitted that members of the Socialist and workmen's party have begun a strong propaganda in favor of peace. The workmen are threatening strikes to further their purposes. Discontent prevails in some parts of the army. In addition to fighting the Germans, and the "dark forces" of the late autocratic government, the Russian army must contend with army criminals.

Just when the Germans will launch their drive is not known, but is expected within the next fortnight or so. Troops released by the German retreat in France are pouring into the eastern theater of war, says dispatches from Russia.

General Dimitrieff, who left the Bulgarian army to fight with the Russians, has been sent to the northern end of the western front to help direct defensive operations.

Three Dead in Fire.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 25.—David Foley, 48, his son, David, 16, and "Harry" 3, a foundling living with the Foleys, were burned to death in a tenement house fire here today. Mrs. Foley and a son, Arthur, were rescued from windows by firemen. The origin of the fire is unknown.

A barn owned by George Washburn on Locust avenue was destroyed by fire of unknown origin on Saturday afternoon at 5:25 o'clock. A still alarm was sent in to the fire department, but owing to the fact that the barn was located out in the woods a day from water facilities it was impossible to fight the flames.

How Kusun Got Off

The commitment on which Joseph Kusun of Marlborough was brought to jail having been made out improperly by Justice of the Peace Northrip of Marlborough, Judge Jenkins has directed that he be released from custody. Kusun was arrested for violating the Conservation Law, Section 183 of that law, which he was charged with violating, contains a number of subdivisions, the violations of some of which are misdemeanors and others of which are felonies. Justice Northrip neglected to state under which subdivision he had found Kusun guilty, in which respect the commitment was defective. City Judge William D. Bennett, Jr., made application for Kusun's release because of this error and Judge Jenkins sustained the writ of habeas corpus which was obtained to bring the matter before him.

Anger and Rage.

Nothing is improved by anger, unless it be the arch of a cat's back. A man with his back up is spilling his figure. People look none the hand-somer for being red in the face. It takes a great deal out of man to get into a towering rage; it is almost as unhealthy as having a fit, and time has been that men have actually choked themselves with passion, and died on the spot. Whatever wrong I suffer, it cannot do me half so much hurt as being angry about it; for passion shortens life and poisons peace.—Spurgeon.

TEMPTING INVALID'S APPETITE.

A person in health usually enjoys any good, well prepared food, but one who is ill, who must eat strengthening food whether it is desired or not, is quite another problem for the house mother and nurse.

A trained nurse appreciated the importance of serving all food in just as attractive a way as is possible and it is her work to attend to such service, but often the overworked mother finds it necessary to be both nurse and housekeeper and she also must know how.

The cleanliness of the tray and its accessories as well as the food served is of the first importance. A light tray, large enough to hold all necessary equipment and one easily cleaned, should be chosen. Spotless linen, the prettiest china arranged to look well, adds not a little to the invalid's pleasure. A few flowers or one laid across the napkin or placed in a small vase is always a source of delight to the eye, or when these are not obtainable a spray of rose geranium will add to the beauty of the service. In case of contagious diseases, paper plates, cups, napkins may be purchased and afterward burned, with the lace paper doilies which may be purchased in packages, the beauty of the tray need not be entirely sacrificed to satisfy.

After the liquid foods which are the first foods for the very ill, comes the semi-solid foods which are custards, eggs, jellies, fruits and cereals. Cereals should be subjected to long, slow cooking to be safe food for an invalid or children. Milk toast is another semi-solid food which is usually enjoyed.

One of the important points to remember in serving an invalid is to have all hot foods hot, and cold foods cold. Often a long trip upstairs will cool the food. It should be carefully covered, or placed over hot water, to reach the patient in good condition.

A combination of fruit with cereal is particularly wholesome and appetizing to an invalid. Prunes cooked until soft, then rubbed through a sieve and served in a small mound in the center of the cereal, makes a wholesome dish.

MOVIES HAD PART IN MOBILIZATION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, March 26.—For the first time in the history of the United States motion pictures played an important part in a call to arms, when Secretary of War Baker's mobilization order reached Boston last night. Calls for members of the Ninth Massachusetts regiment, National Guard, to report to their armory at once were flashed on the screens at numerous Boston motion picture theatres. Cheers and wild patriotic demonstrations followed as members of the militia hurriedly left the theatres. Today both the Ninth and Second Massachusetts regiments are in arms.

Central Smoked Up.

Firemen from the Central Fire Station answered a still alarm at three o'clock this morning from the building of the New York Telephone Company's building, half a block away, where a rag left by the night watchman after polishing brasswork, blazed up from spontaneous combustion and filled the building with dense black smoke. One of the night centrals called the firemen and the blazing rage were extinguished without difficulty.

RESCUE OF THE BUFFALO.

No Danger Now of the Valuable Animal Becoming Extinct.

The American bison, or buffalo, is increasing in number, according to the annual report of the biological survey, and the danger of complete extinction, that once threatened, apparently no longer exists.

The rescue of the buffalo from the slaughterers is one of the most interesting of our attempts at conservation. It is estimated that at one time within the last century there were as many as 75,000,000 of these great, unwieldy creatures on the North American continent. Early travelers tell of herds that were days in passing, that halted stonabots on the upper Missouri and stopped wagon and railway trains on the western plains. The number killed by the Indians in their hunts was not equal to the natural increase of the herds.

The slaughter began when the railroads crossed the prairies and opened up unexplored tracts to the hide hunters. Thousands were killed merely for a slice of their hump or tongue. For years hunters sold an average of 2,000,000 hides annually. In 1880 the number of American bison, wild and captive, was only 1,001. There are now perhaps in North America as many as 4,000.

The buffalo was the most numerous and valuable animal of this country. Its flesh was sun dried in great quantities and made excellent beef. The bones, horns and sinews were all utilized, and the hide was made into lodges, harness, canoes and winter clothing. Had the buffalo been conserved in time instead of being so ruthlessly slaughtered it would today have had an economic value to the country difficult to overestimate.

A Very Short Street.

One of the shortest and most obscure streets in all Greater New York is Chestnut street, and it's as small as its name implies. This street is less than fifty feet long and runs from New Chambers to Madison street, separating in two a triangular block, the whole of which would not have an area large enough for a modern building even if located in a section that would warrant the improvement.—New York Post.

She Found Liberty in the Sword

Her Name Was Joan of Arc

ACROSS the dark horizon of medieval France there flashed the figure of the greatest woman who ever lived.

From the home of a peasant she rose by her own wondrous works until she stood beside kings.

She loved peace, yet she was the greatest warrior of her age.

In the shadow of oppression she found the light of liberty in the Sword of Battle.

Joan is dead—killed by the people she loved—but her spirit lives forever.

How Kusun Got Off.

The commitment on which Joseph Kusun of Marlborough was brought to jail having been made out in error by Justice of the Peace Northrup of Marlborough, Judge Jenkins has directed that he be released from custody. Kusun was arrested for violating the Conservation Law, Section 153 of that law, which he was charged with violating, contains a number of subdivisions, the violations of some of which are felonies. Justice Northrup, who had found Kusun guilty, was ordered to state under which subdivision he had found Kusun guilty, in which respect the commitment was defective. City Judge William D. Higgins, Jr., made application for Kusun's release because of this error and Judge Jenkins sustained the writ of habeas corpus which was obtained to bring the matter before him.

Nothing is improved by anger unless it be the arch of a cat's back. A man with his back up is spotting his figure. People look none the handsomer for being red in the face. It takes a great deal out of man to get into a towering rage; it is almost as unhealthy as having a fit, and time has been that men have actually choked themselves with passion, and died on the spot. Whatever wrong I suffer, it cannot do me half so much hurt as being angry about it; for passion shortens life and poisons peace.—Spurgeon.

TEMPTING INVALID'S APPETITE.

A person in health usually enjoys any good, well prepared food, but one who is ill, who must eat strengthening food whether it is desired or not, is quite another problem for the house mother and nurse.

A trained nurse appreciated the importance of serving all food in just as attractive a way as is possible and it is her work to attend to such service, but often the overworked mother finds it necessary to be both nurse and housekeeper and she also must know how.

The delicacies of the tray and its accessories as well as the food served is of the first importance. A light tray, large enough to hold all necessary equipment and one easily cleaned, should be chosen. Spotless linen, the prettiest china arranged to look well, adds not a little to the invalid's pleasure. A few flowers or one laid across the napkin or placed to a small vase is always a source of delight to the eye, or when these are not obtainable a spray of rose geranium will add to the beauty of the service. In case of contagious diseases, paper plates, cups, napkins may be purchased and afterward burned, with the lace paper doilies which may be purchased in packages, the beauty of the tray need not be entirely sacrificed to salubrity.

After the liquid foods which are the first foods for the very ill, comes the semi-solid foods which are custards, eggs, jellies, fruits and cereals. Cereals should be subjected to long, slow cooking to be safe food for an invalid or children. Milk toast is another semi-solid food which is usually enjoyed.

One of the important points to remember in serving an invalid is to have all hot foods hot, and cold foods cold. Often a long trip upstairs will cool the food. It should be carefully covered, or placed over hot water, to reach the patient in good condition.

A combination of fruit with cereal is particularly wholesome and appetizing to an invalid. Prunes cooked until soft, then rubbed through a sieve and served in a small mound in the center of the cereal, makes a wholesome dish.

The will of Urban Hamburger of Kingston city was admitted to probate. The testator gives his estate to his wife, Jane Hamburger, and appoints her executrix. The will was executed February 8, 1911, and witnessed by Harry MacMillan and Christopher A. Murray. The value of the real estate is $2,500 and the personal property amounts to $500. Robert G. Groves appeared for the executrix.

The will of Rhoda Ayers of the town of Marlborough was admitted to probate. The testatrix gives the life use of the estate to her husband, Elisha Ayers, at whose death the remainder is given to their seven children, Anna, wife of Frederick Clarke; Ida, wife of Amos McGreevy; Elmer Ayers, William Ayers, Edith, wife of Arthur Reed; Arthur Ayers and Mary Ayers. The husband is appointed executor. The will was executed September 30, 1909, and witnessed by J. DePuy Hasbrouck and Nellie M. Shultz. The value of the real estate is $1,000 and the personal property amounts to $50. J. DePuy Hasbrouck appeared for the executor.

Letters of administration on the estate of Mary E. Palmer of the town of New Paltz were issued to her son, William E. Dinger. The value of the estate is $500 personal property. John N. Vanderlyn appeared for the administrator.

The matter of the judicial settlement of the account of Thomas J. Imperial as administrator of the estate of Antonio Imperial of the town of Rosendale was submitted to the surrogate. Objections to the account were filed by Elizabeth McGrath, a daughter of the deceased, who claimed the administrator had not accounted for all receipts, specifying receipts for the sale of real estate in the town of Rosendale, which she claims he sold for $1,656, consisting of $250 cash and a mortgage for $1,390. The mortgage, she alleged, he later assigned to Durham Reynolds for the latter's business, which he took in his own name. She claimed he also should be charged with $15.50 for money received, and that there should be deducted from his account $5.27 telephone bill which had been paid by his brother, and $13.10 taxes, unless he accounted for the rents. GERMAN SPY GETS ONE YEAR IN PEN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, March 26.—George Vaux Bacon, self-styled American newspaper man, today pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring on American soil to conduct a military enterprise against Great Britain. He was sentenced to one year and one day in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta. Bacon was indicted together with Charles Wunnenberg and Albert Sander, who pleaded guilty to similar charges last week and were sentenced to Atlanta. Bacon was convicted of being a spy in England and sentenced to be hung, it became known today. It is understood that the sentence was rescinded when it was known that Bacon had failed to communicate any information to Germany and that he was under indictment here. He was returned to the United States.

General Committee of Charity Ball.

The time has almost come around again, for the happily anticipated Charity Ball which is annually given at the armory for the purpose of raising funds to maintain the charity ward of the Benedictine Sanitarium. Here, during the past year over one thousand days of free care was given, and this was made possible because the Ladies' Auxiliary last year gave a Charity Ball. Quite beside the charity side of the affair, it is looked upon, each year as one of the big social events of the social season. This year's Charity Ball will occur on Monday evening, April 16, at the armory, and already the following general committee are putting forth every effort to make the affair even more of a success than the former balls, is that may be. The general committee is as follows: Mrs. James Dwyer, chairman; Mrs. Peter Barman, Jr., Mrs. A. J. Cook, Mrs. Palmer Canfield, Jr., Mrs. Frank Eastman, Mrs. James Higley, Miss Cella Hussey, Mrs. J. Of Course It Wouldn't.

George Hamlin, during one of his horseback rides at Lake Placid, came across a solitary old man, who, seated in the doorway of his cabin, was fiddling away for dear life, quite regardless of such trifling conventionalities as time and tune. Hamlin listened awhile to the cacophony in amusement and then inquired casually, "How do you tune your violin?" The reply came with refreshing ingenuousness: "I don't tune it—it don't sound right if I do."

Abuse of Pension System.

Abuse of the pension system is illustrated by the Bostonian who discovered, in a distant New England town, a former townsman and policeman in a new uniform, walking a beat. "How is this?" asked the visitor. "I thought you were on the Boston force." "Oh," exclaimed the transplanted policeman, "you see I'm pensioned by Boston, so I moved. Now I'm working here."

VAN WAGENEN'S

The First Chemical Step in the History of Photography.

The distinction of making the first chemical step in the history of photography belongs to Italy, owing to the discovery by alchemists of the sixteenth century that nitrate chloride of silver is blackened on exposure to light, while the foundation of photographic optics was laid by Della Porta in his invention about 1509 of the camera obscura—i. e., the darkening of nitrate of silver by light.

Experiments in 1777 by Scheele, a Swedish chemist, and by Ritter of Jena in 1801 in the action of rays of light upon horn silver carried the science a step further. But to Thomas Wedgwood of England belongs the honor of having been the first to produce photographs by the action of light on a sensitive surface, his researches being much aided by the observations of Sir Humphry Davy. These photographs were made in 1802.

Twelve years later Nicéphore Niepce of Chalons-sur-Saône was the first to produce permanent pictures by the means of solar radiation, his process, described as heliography, consisting in coating a piece of plated silver or glass with bitumen.

The daguerotype, which did justice without merry, was produced about 1839 by Daguerre and Niepce. For more than twenty years the daguerotype, facetious descriptions of which are found in the pages of Samuel Levee, Dickens, Thackeray and Rende, held tyrannous sway. W. H. Fox Talbot in the meantime vainly trying to secure recognition for his eolypion process, which, by the aid of paper steeped in nitrate of silver, produced the negative or invisible picture now used in all photographs.

To Howe is credited the invention of the changing box, containing a dozen or more plates with a special form of dark bath, which can be changed with one plate at a time from the box and then inserted in the camera for exposure.

Changes in the photographic apparatus with the introduction of sensitive films supported not on glass but on a flexible material many leading photographers of the late sixties and early seventies to seek a material which at though possessing the transparency of glass, would be less brittle.—Boston Herald.

Two Headed Symbols.

Both Russia and Germany display two headed eagles on their standards. Yet this symbol is considered by some heralds to be merely the result of the heraldic practice of "dimidiation." This was simply a child's way of impaling two coats of arms on the same shield by primitive method of cutting each in half and taking the right half of one and the left half of the other and placing them back to back, as it were. Strange two headed beasts naturally resulted, as, for instance, when a lion and an eagle were halved and jointed together. The griffin is supposed to have been dimidiation.—London Spectator.

Where Latin Is Still Spoken.

In the central part of the Balkans, far up in the mountains between Bulgaria, Servia and Turkey, there is a community of mountaineers among whom strangers seldom go. During the ascendancy of the Roman empire a Roman colony was founded here and then forgotten on account of its remoteness. For the reason that the descendants of those ancient colonists have never mixed with the people about them they retain their original characteristics, even to the language. In several villages the Latin that the peasants speak is so plain that students of classic authors can understand them.

Women's Hobbies.

Women are less given to the pursuit of hobbies than men. When they do take up a "fad," however, it is likely to be an odd one. For instance, one wealthy Chicago woman has for years been collecting cartoons and caricatures of "Uncle Sam." She has many thousands of them and at times has trouble keeping up with the output. Another woman—a Vassar professor of mathematics—recently bought a small plot in the Maine woods and built a house entirely herself.

Dispatches from Petrograd report that former Czar Nicholas and the Czarina have been made prisoners in the magnificent Tsarsko-Selo Palace, the scene of many bacchanalian feasts in days gone by and fanatical religious services during the reign of Nicholas.

The Boy Is the Father of the Man.

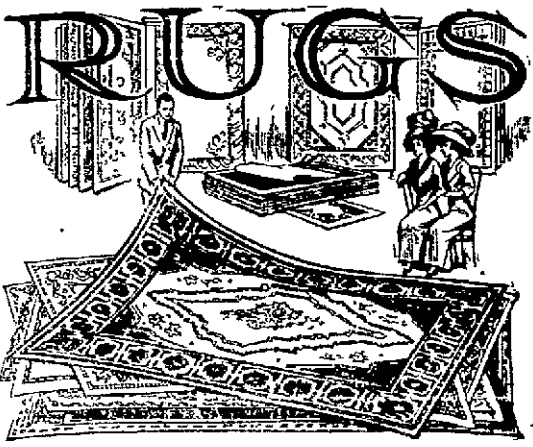

The director of education in Liverpool has just made a great and important discovery which future generations of educationalists will doubtless regard as epoch-making as the first voyage of Christopher Columbus. He says that "boys have a perfect passion of watching men at work." Strange to say, we have noticed the same phenomenon with many men.

MOVIES HAD PART IN MOBILIZATION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Boston, March 26.—For the first time in the history of the United States motion pictures played an important part in a call to arms, when Secretary of War Baker's mobilization order reached Boston last night. Calls for members of the Ninth Massachusetts regiment, National Guard, to report to their armory at once were flashed on the screens at numerous Boston motion picture theatres. Cheers and wild patriotic demonstrations followed as members of the militia hurriedly left the theatres. Today both the Ninth and Second Massachusetts regiments are in arms.

RESCUE OF THE BUFFALO.

No Danger Now of the Valuable Animal Becoming Extinct.

The American bison or buffalo is increasing in number according to the annual report of the biological survey, and the danger of complete extinction, that once threatened, apparently no longer exists.

The rescue of the buffalo from the slaughterers is one of the most interesting of our attempts at conservation. It is estimated that at one time within the last century there were as many as 75,000,000 of these great, unwieldy creatures on the North American continent. Early travelers tell of herds that were days in passing that halted steamboats on the upper Missouri and stopped wagon and railway trains on the western plains. The number killed by the Indians in their hunts was not equal to the natural increase of the herds.

The slaughter began when the railroads crossed the prairies and opened up unexplored tracts to the hide hunters. Thousands were killed merely for a slice of their hump or tongue. For years hunters sold an average of 2,000 bison hides annually. In 1890 the number of American bison wild and captive was only 1,001. There are now perhaps in North America as many as 10,000.

The buffalo was the most numerous and valuable animal of this country. Its flesh was sold in great quantities and made excellent beef. The bones horns and skins were all utilized and the hide was made into harness harness canoes and winter clothing. Had the buffalo been conserved in time instead of being so ruthlessly slaughtered it would today have had an economic value to the country difficult to overestimate.

She Found Liberty in the Sword

Her Name Was Joan of Arc

ACROSS the dark horizon of medieval France there flashed the figure of the greatest woman who ever lived.

From the home of a peasant she rose by her own wondrous works until she stood beside kings.

She loved peace, yet she was the greatest warrior of her age.

In the shadow of oppression she found the light of liberty in the Sword of Battle.

"We would request a simple dinner with light beer and no other stimulant. That is our idea of the proper drink for athletes in training."

BROOKLYN NATIONAL LEAGUE BASEBALL CLUB
 C. H. Ebbetts.
 (From N. Y. Evening Journal, July 3, 1909).

The above is an excerpt from a letter of acceptance written by Mr. Ebbetts, President of the Brooklyn National League Ball Team, in reply to an invitation from the editor of the N. Y. Evening Journal, in which the editor invited the ball-players to dine as his guests.

nervous strain. It is a tissue builder and therefore is found on the tables of famous athletes. It was for this reason that Mr. Ebbetts, in accepting, on behalf of his team, an invitation to dinner, requested that beer be served.

Beer is also invigorating to invalids and convalescents. Frequently when ordinary food is repellent and medicine loathsome, beer is found palatable and refreshing. It repairs the waste of tissue, conserves strength and aids the assimilative and digestive processes. For these reasons it is frequently prescribed by physicians.

T. C. Flanagan, the famous athlete and trainer, is another champion of beer for the athlete. Mr. Flanagan says: "I have always maintained that beer is the best upbuilder and sustainer, next to beefsteak, that a man under a steady grind for long periods can take. There must be a moderation, of course, in this as in other foods, and BEER is an athletic food."

Ninety per cent. of beer consists of water. Pure, potable water is the first requisite in every brewery. Beer contains just enough nutritious solids (about 5 per cent.) to give it a food value, and just enough alcohol (3 to 4 per cent.) to give it snap and zest as a beverage.

FUEL FOR THE NAVY

A Mountain of Coal and a Sea of Oil Burned Up Yearly.

THE USE OF OIL IS GROWING.

It is More Efficient Than Coal, Effects a Saving in Fire Room Complement and is Cleaner to Handle—Coaling a Ship at Sea is Mean Work.

Figuratively speaking the United States navy consumes a mountain of coal and a sea of oil every year, and the full question might without levity be called a burning one with the naval officials at all times.

No navy in the world has given the problem of coal supply, coal capacity and speed in coaling ships more attention than has that of the United States.

Coal used by the navy department for our fleets comes from the bituminous regions of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania. This coal is shipped from the mines to the coast, the principal tidewater ports on the Atlantic coast being Philadelphia, New York and Hampton Roads, Va. Government colliers carry the coal from these ports to the various coaling stations of the navy in Atlantic, Pacific and Asiatic waters.

The chief coaling stations are at Bradford, in the state of Rhode Island; San Francisco; Honolulu, Cavite, P. I., and smaller stocks at Guantanamo, Samoa and Guam. The supply at these stations is kept up to the required standard by frequent shipments from the Atlantic seaboard ports mentioned in naval colliers or in chartered merchant vessels.

The navy standard coal used by the American fleet meets the highest tests for steaming purposes, for it gives the largest percentage of "steaming radius" per given quantity of coal. The navy must have clean, dependable coal, for it means miles and, as far as possible, preservation of machinery.

Coaling at sea may well be called the nightmare of the navy. Every man on board, both officers and enlisted men, dreads it. Laborious, tedious and nasty, it is an unwelcome duty, to be performed as quickly as possible and then forgotten with fervent sighs of relief.

The coal is lifted from the collier's hold in huge buckets raised by derricks, which carry them to the warship's chutes, the coal being dumped in great piles on deck, whence it is shoveled by the men into the chutes. Trimmers down in the bunkers do their part in properly distributing it.

The work is heavy, dusty and dirty, and rolls, hot sausages and coffee are served to the men every two hours during coaling. To further stimulate them the ship's band often plays stirring airs.

When a warship is in port she is coaled from barges lying alongside, the coal being lifted by derricks in huge bags which hold 800 pounds of coal each. The battleship Arkansas can stow 2,754 tons of coal and the Texas 2,900 tons.

The use of fuel oil in the navy is increasing yearly and will continue to increase, as the new ships, especially the new dreadnaughts, consume oil, and more oil burners are planned for the future.

According to the navy department, there is much to be said in favor of oil. It effects a considerable reduction in fire room complement. It is more efficient than coal in that 200 gallons of oil (two-thirds of a ton) do the work of one ton of good coal, and there is a great deal of refuse in coal (ashes, etc.), with much additional loss due to fine particles of coal going up the stacks unconsumed.

The United States navy has two oil supply ships, the Kanawha and the Maumee, each of them capable of stank-ing fourteen knots an hour and carrying 7,054 tons of fuel oil. Oiling a ship does away with much of the labor and all of the dirt so trying in coaling. In port the problem of pumping the oil from the huge tank on dock into the pipes on the side of the vessel is comparatively a simple one.

Supplying oil to a ship at sea, however, is not yet satisfactorily settled. Experiments in fueling ships at sea with oil form an important item in naval strategy at this time. Just what has been accomplished in this matter of experimentation may not yet be divulged.—Providence Journal.

Plants Without Roots.

The "flower of the air" is a curious plant found in China and Japan. It is so called because it appears to have no root and is never fixed to the earth. It twines around a dry tree or sterile rock. Each shoot produces two or three flowers like a lily—white, transparent and odoriferous. It is capable of being transported 600 or 700 miles, and it grows as it travels, suspended on a twig.

Big Meeting at Saugerties.

On Friday evening last, there was a big general Red Cross meeting at the high school auditorium, which was filled to the doors. F. E. W. Darrow presided. Major George Candler, so recently returned from the border, was first speaker of the evening, his subject being, "Sanitation." Patriotic music consisting of a vocal and a violin selection followed, after which William Gorham Rice, Jr., was introduced. Mr. Rice, who is a young Harvard man, has been serving in the American Ambulance in France and what he had to tell of the war at first hand, together with his personal experiences, aroused the most enthusiastic interest. Moreover, Mr. Rice had the gift to tell graphically of what he had passed through, and his address was applauded to the echo. The Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls each attended the meeting in a body. Twenty-six new Red Cross memberships were received at the door either before or following the meeting, which proved the patriotism of the Saugerties people.

PEACH GRADING LAW IS PROPOSED

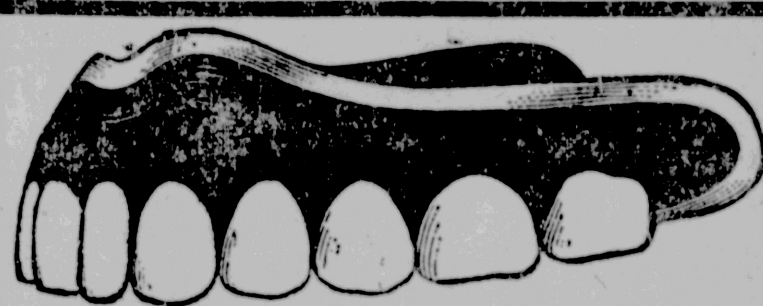

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, March 26.—The Lattin bill which amends the state agricultural law in relation to the grading of peaches is to be reported out of committee on April 4. It was introduced on March 3. The bill is of much interest to fruit growers. Copies of the bill are now obtainable either through the respective assemblies or Farm Bureau managers. Suggestions are invited in connection with the bill.

In the Ontario section of this state about 5,000 cars of peaches are shipped each year to all points of the United States, and in the past to England as well. The bill is intended as a means of standardizing peaches to the advantage of the grower, the commission merchant, the dealer and the consumer.

Under the provisions of the bill peaches are to be graded in four classes. The first will be "extra fancy" and must consist of one variety which are to be well grown specimens, hand picked, properly packed, normal shape and free from dirt, disease, insect and fungus injuries as well as bruises, except such as might necessarily be caused in packing. The first grade are to have a minimum size of not less than two and one-half inches.

The second grade calls for peaches that are well grown, hand picked, properly packed and practically free from dirt, diseases, bruises and other defects and having a minimum size of not less than two inches. The third grade consists of peaches that are hand picked, properly packed, practically normal in shape and free

American Mineral Oil

FRACTICAL HEALTH HINT

Use of Mineral Oil.

Dr. Le Tanneur contributes to the Paris Medical some practical points in the use of mineral oil in constipation. The oil, he says, is in no way digested or even modified by the juices of the stomach and intestines. It acts as a lubricant and nothing else, though it tends to heal abrasions of the intestinal wall caused by rough particles of food.

The New York Medical Journal says mineral oil should be taken either before breakfast or after dinner, two tablespoonfuls being a dose. Its use should be continued every day for at least a fortnight, when the bowels will continue to work naturally without it, for the mineral oil is in no sense a cathartic, but it will cure constipation.—Kingston Daily Freeman, February 17, 1917.

KINGSTON TO GET A REAL THRILLER

Weather Stirs Interest in Big Indoor Circus at Y. M. C. A. Gym—Today Out-Hamiltoned by This Notice of Stupendous Spectacle.

It's a little early in the season for the circus to come to Kingston, but we are getting to be more and more New Yorky in our customs, so why shouldn't we have an indoor circus in March just as the big city has?

We have no Madison Square Garden but we have a Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and that's the place the circus will open tomorrow for a continuous run of two nights.

Bayrum and Bingling's big show with menagerie, sideshows and specialties will draw a big crowd. The doors will open at 8:30, the side show at 7, and the main performance at 8:15.

The attractions of this circus comprise a truly astonishing array of acrobats, boxers, wrestlers, dancers and sensational specialty.

A troupe of Japanese geisha girls in native costumes with parasols will prove a big attraction, and the Grecian statues by living models are indescribably beautiful. This last act has been censored by the board and pronounced 89 and forty-four hundredths pure, so people may safely bring the children.

The capture of Villa, a realistic pantomime drama, provides the military interest which is necessary to every performance in these stirring times.

One of the most delightful numbers on the program will be the Russian dancer, Madame Slopodova, who has never before appeared in this country. She danced before the czar a few weeks ago, at the royal theater in Petrograd and some have been unkind enough to say that was why he abdicated the throne. It is true that he never before had seen anything like her performance. Neither has anybody else. Madame Slopodova crossed the ocean in a submarine, and to keep herself in training during the voyage she spent hours standing with one foot on the periscope and the other toe pointing to the sun.

The closing number on the program will be the hippodrome races, a series of hair-raising acts around the ring.

If you want every sensation that a circus can give, do not miss the performance at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday or Wednesday evenings of this week.

LES DARCY SIGNS FOR OHIO BATTLE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, March 26.—Les Darcy has finally signed for a fight. He has agreed to go ten rounds with either George Chip or Jim Flynn at Cedar Point, Ohio, April 19. Darcy will receive $10,000 or the privilege of taking forty-five per cent of the gate receipts.

Darcy has also signed articles to fight in New Orleans on May 4. He gives Promoter Tortorich the privilege of naming his opponent. Jack Dillon has already signed to fight Darcy in New Orleans. This will be a 20-round bout.

Darcy and his trainers and sparring partners will leave New York tomorrow for Cleveland, to train for the Cedar Point fight.

HATCH CHICKENS EARLY.

A Tip on How to Obtain a More Steady Supply of Eggs.

Nature requires her subjects to take an annual vacation, and the moulting season, which begins in late summer, is the holiday time for hens. The hens stop laying and change their old feathers for a new one, requiring three or four months in the operation. When the hens take this vacation new laid eggs are scarce and remain scarce until the pullets hatched during the preceding spring begin to lay.

The remedy is very simple and is under the control of the poultryman. The first step is to have chickens hatched early, so that the pullets begin to lay when the hens begin to moult. This is not difficult. Pullets of the American breeds begin laying at about seven months of age. Leghorn pullets begin when about six months old. North of the Ohio river this means that all hatching must be over by May 1 at the latest. The best plan is to have the chickens coming at intervals during March and April. The earliest hatched pullets will, of course, begin to lay first. If any of them begin to moult their places will be taken by the later ones, and a steady supply of eggs will be more certain.

The difficulty in the way of the practical application of this matter is that so many poultry keepers are dependent on hens for hatching. As long as we have late hatched chickens we will have late sitters. The poultry keeper who wants to change from the late hatching to early hatching must therefore either get broody hens from some one else or use an incubator. After he has "changed the dates" on his flock he will have no trouble, especially with the American breeds.—New York Sun.

Spider Knows the Signs.

The spider is an excellent guide to the weather. Not only is he extremely sensitive to the state of the atmosphere, but he takes a keen interest in the habits of flying insects. He knows that these do not come out in the wet. When, therefore, he is "resting" you may be certain that he is expecting rain. But should he be busy constructing a new web, it is a sign that he is looking forward to a fine spell—and he is generally right.

How to Carry Water.

If you want to carry a full pail of water any distance without spilling or to carry water from one room to another in a flat dish or tray you should always have something floating on it. If it is drinking water a clean saucer will do, and a flat piece of wood is the best thing for a pail. It is the little waves that arise from the water's lapping against the sides and then rushing to the other side that makes the water spill over. The floater stops this.—New York Sun.

With a purse of $10,000 to fight for, the players in the two leagues will have quite a plum dangled before their eyes. Each league will put up $5,000 or half the purse, and the league which wins the series will capture the other $5,000, which is to be divided between the eight clubs of the winning league.

The fact that players' salaries will be going on as in the regular season makes the purse money pure velvet for the winning leagues, and with the big series to look forward to, every club in both leagues will be on its toes throughout the regular schedule of 112 games.

RED SOX TRAIN IN HONOLULU

Business Men of Hawaiian City Make Offer to Have Boston Team Do Training There.

The Boston Red Sox are likely to train in Honolulu in 1918. Business men of Honolulu have made an offer to have the team do its spring training there next year and it is possible President Harry H. Frazee will accept. The Hawaiians are so anxious to have the Red Sox set in shape in the islands that they have agreed to pay all of their expenses while they are there and also their transportation expenses to and from San Francisco.

EATING FOR HIS LIFE.

Story of One Man Who Did Not Dig His Grave With His Teeth.

In the American Magazine a writer cites the case of Luigi Cornaro, to whom he acknowledged his debt of health.

"Luigi," he says, "was an Italian nobleman of the middle ages. He had money enough and leisure enough so that Satan found plenty of work for his idle hands during his first forty years. About his fortieth birthday he fell sick, and the doctors told him to make his will, as he could not possibly live another year."

"Luigi died at 104 painlessly, as one who passes into a sweet sleep, in the words of his granddaughter."

"What gave him those extra sixty-four years of life? Not doctors—he had nothing to do with them; not medicine; not exercise. Luigi simply stopped eating! He made a careful study of himself to discover just how little food he could eat and still feel well. Out of this study he soon learned the valuable truth that 'most men dig their graves with their teeth.'"

"Most men die because they have so loaded their bodies with excess food that their organs of elimination have broken under the strain. Most men are tired because they are self-poisoned with too much food. All this Luigi discovered and wrote in a book called the 'Temperate Life.'"

"Aside from the fact that I belong to a family that grows stronger as it grows older, I owe to Luigi more than to any one else the good health and happiness which I enjoy today at thirty."

Perfect Poetry.

Who wrote the most perfect lines of English poetry? Personally, writes a correspondent, I find it hard to choose between Shelley's

His head was bound with panes of blown And faded violets, white and pied and blue;

Tennyson's

Music, that gentler on the spirit lies Than tired credence upon tired eyes, And Swinburne's

I found in dreams a place of wind and flowers, Full of sweet trees and color of glad grass.

How the Ancients Regarded Iron.

The ancient Egyptians believed that iron was the bone of Typhon, the enemy of Osiris, and for this reason it was considered impure. No one could make use of it, even for the most ordinary requirements of life without polluting his soul in a way to cause him harm both on earth and in the other world.

Logical Conclusion.

"I feel all gone to pieces this morning." "What do you think is the matter?" "I suppose it is because I am broke." —Baltimore American.

"A feller kin forgive his enemies easy enough, but consarned if it don't come poety ding hard sometimes for him to forgive his friends." —Brownings Magazine.

Not Product of Nature.

The natural products of the Arabian deserts and other oriental regions which bear the name of manna have not the qualities of the manna of the Bible which the Israelites fed upon for 40 years until they got the new corn of the land of Canaan. The manna of the Scriptures may be regarded as wholly miraculous and not in any respect a product of nature.

Chalmers Lynite Pistons

An Evidence of Chalmers Quality

Chalmers pistons are made from one of the lightest and highest-grade metals obtainable—Lynite, a special alloy of aluminum.

Most cars use heavy cast iron pistons. Much cheaper. Much reduced efficiency.

12½-Ounce Pistons

Chalmers pistons weigh only twelve and a half ounces each. About one-third the weight of cast iron pistons. Each one of these Chalmers pistons is true to its die. All pistons are exactly equal in weight.

No greater variation than ¼-ounce is tolerated in any of the reciprocating parts of the Chalmers.

Importance of Lightness

A light piston insures smoothness and power. Lighter pistons allow other motor parts of corresponding lightness. Lynite pistons reduce the strain on the bearings 160 pounds per square inch over the cast iron piston.

The wonderful smoothness of the Chalmers at all speeds is largely due to the lightness of the pistons. So also is the motor's remarkable power.

Compression—Power

Chalmers pistons are provided with three rings of uniform tension, each three-sixteenths of an inch wide. This means better compression—more power.

Below the lowest ring there are oil relief holes to prevent any excess of oil from reaching the combustion chambers.

The above is what we mean by quality in Pistons. The kind of quality you need in the pistons in the car you buy. And the kind of quality you GET in the Chalmers.

MRS. PRESTON GIBSON.
WINS DIVORCE WITHOUT RIGHT TO REMARRY IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, March 24.—Mrs. Preston Gibson, wife of the playwright, will receive today an absolute divorce from her husband. The decree would have been signed before, except that Justice Hitz wished to write into it a stipulation that Mrs. Gibs on must not remarry in the District of Columbia. It is understood Mrs. Gibson will be given the custody of her children.

To Get Out of Debt.

In the Woman's Home Companion is an article on debt and how to get out of it by a woman who was almost ruined by her husband's carelessness and extravagance. Among other things she says:

"If a family that has been living outside its income wants to start to live inside, something more than a good resolve is necessary. Usually that man and woman have got to form a wholly new circle of friends. They must leave those who are living outside and take up their abode among those who are living inside. Man is a gregarious animal. His will power needs all the help it can get from a congenial and approving public opinion."

TRIED BROWN AT BROWN'S STATION

Hunter Found Not Guilty by Jury in Justice's Court—Tried for Hunting on New York Reservoir Property.

One of the most interesting questions to be decided by a Justice's court was that which came up before Justice Buswell at Brown's Station on Saturday when Irving Brown, charged with hunting on the Ashokan reservoir tract, was given a jury trial before the justice and found not guilty. The defendant was found hunting on the property belonging to the city of New York early last fall and was arrested. Game Protector Fred DeWitt took up the case for the Conservation Commission against Brown on November 7, last. Game Protector DeWitt took Brown before Justice Lockwood of the town of Hurley and there had him and a companion, John Simmons of Kingston, sign a confession of judgment, the penalty of which was for $15 damages and $1 costs. Thereafter, the defendant Brown refused to pay the $15 damages and $1 costs and Game Protector DeWitt had a warrant issued for his arrest before Judge Buswell.

The defendant, Brown through his attorney, Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr., demanded a jury trial and Saturday the matter was brought before the attention of the court and jury. The plaintiff swearing a Mr. Ostrander, one of the watchmen on the reservoir, who found the defendant on the grounds and Ostrander told of seeing the defendant with a dog and gun. Engineer George C. Hones of the New York city office was also sworn to show that the city of New York owned the property and located it on a map that was introduced. Mr. Lockwood of the town of Hurley was sworn and certified copies of the confession of judgment signed by the defendant Brown was introduced into evidence, and Game Protector DeWitt was also sworn and told of the admissions made by the defendant, Brown to him at the time they were before Justice Lockwood and since.

After the People rested their case, the defendant, through his attorney, Judge Brinnier, moved to dismiss the information and discharge the defendant which Justice Buswell denied. The defendant then rested his case, not putting on any defense or any witnesses for the defense.

Judge Brinnier then summed up the case for the defendant, and Milton O. Auchmoody, who appeared for the State of New York and the Conservation Commission, summed up for the People. The jury was out for about 15 minutes and then they brought in a verdict of not guilty.

The section of the law under which the defendant was arrested is as follows:

"Section 222.—Game shall not be taken on certain public lands.—Game shall not be taken on the lands purchased or condemned by any municipality within the state for the purpose of supplying any municipality with water and protecting the same from pollution and contamination, or on any public highway, except public highways other than state or county highways within the forest preserve counties."

The Word Anecdote.

Anecdote, a word of Greek origin, means strictly "that which is not given out." In this sense it has been used to denote secret histories or portions of ancient writings which have long remained in manuscript and are edited for the first time. Of such anecdotes there are many collections. The earliest was probably Muratori's, in 1709, followed by Thesaurus Novi Anecdotorum, 1717, and Thesaurus Anecdotorum Novissimus, 1721. In its popular modern acceptation the word is used of the relation of some single amusing or interesting and authentic incident in private life.—London Saturday Review.

New York's Missing People.

Police statistics show that between 1,000 and 1,500 women and girls disappear in New York city every year, some for a time, some forever. The number of men who disappear yearly exceeds the number of women and girls by 50 per cent. A very large proportion of these missing persons, however, are found or accounted for. In the opinion of a detective familiar with searches for missing persons most of those who disappear are persons who "want to be lost." In the case of missing girls it has been found by the police that many of them left home after slight disagreements and went to live with relatives or friends in some other place.—New York Times.

PRESIDENT MENCOCAL

DR. ALFREDO ZAYAS

CUBAN CANDIDATES IN PRESIDENTIAL RE-ELECTIONS.

Havana, March 23.—The provincial election board of Oriente today has set April 9 as the date for holding re-elections in Victoria de Las Tunas.

The voting there will be of the utmost importance, as it will decide whether President Menocal, Conservative candidate for re-election, is to remain in power for another four-year term, or must give way to Dr. Alfredo Zayas, Liberal candidate, on May 20.

The Oriente re-elections had previously been set for February 20, but on account of the revolutionary outbreak, they were postponed by special decree.

The Santa Clara re-elections were held February 14, resulting, the Conservatives declare, in a victory for them.

ADVERTISEMENT WRITING.

UNWISE advertising economy is an acquired habit with many merchants, like olive oil and moving pictures, when the habit is continued, it is difficult to get rid of. It is believed that each time they blackball a dollar and lay it away for use, withdrawing it from their advertising expenditures, they have done wisely. Really, such business men are short-changing themselves. Well written advertisements are business getters. The other kind won't do at all. Let me write your ads with "pen and quill." George M. "We would request a simple dinner with light beer and no other stimulant. That is our idea of the proper drink for athletes in training."

BROOKLYN NATIONAL LEAGUE BASEBALL CLUB
 C. H. Ebbetts.
 (From N. Y. Evening Journal, July 3, 1909).

The above is an excerpt from a letter of acceptance written by Mr. Ebbetts, President of the Brooklyn National League Ball Team, in reply to an invitation from the editor of the N. Y. Evening Journal, in which the editor invited the ball-players to dine as his guests.

nervous strain. It is a tissue builder and therefore is found on the tables of famous athletes. It was for this reason that Mr. Ebbetts, in accepting, on behalf of his team, an invitation to dinner, requested that beer be served.

Beer is also invigorating to invalids and convalescents. Frequently when ordinary food is repellent and medicine loathsome, beer is found palatable and refreshing. It repairs the waste of tissue, conserves strength and aids the assimilative and digestive processes. For these reasons it is frequently prescribed by physicians.

T. C. Flanagan, the famous athlete and trainer, is another champion of beer for the athlete. Mr. Flanagan says: "I have always maintained that beer is the best upbuilder and sustainer, next to beefsteak, that a man under a steady grind for long periods can take. There must be a moderation, of course, in this as in other foods, and BEER is an athletic food."

Ninety per cent. of beer consists of water. Pure, potable water is the first requisite in every brewery. Beer contains just enough nutritious solids (about 5 per cent.) to give it a food value, and just enough alcohol (3 to 4 per cent.) to give it snap and zest as a beverage.

Talk No. 7 will appear in this paper a week from to-day.

FUEL FOR THE NAVY

A Mountain of Coal and a Sea of Oil Burned Up Yearly.

THE USE OF OIL IS GROWING.

It is More Efficient Than Coal. Effects a Saving in Fire Room Complement and is Cleaner to Handle—Coaling a Ship at Sea is Mean Work.

Figuratively speaking the United States navy consumes a mountain of coal and a sea of oil every year, and the full question might without levity be called a burning one with the naval officials at all times.

No navy in the world has given the problem of coal supply, coal capacity and speed in coaling ships more attention than has that of the United States.

Coal used by the navy department for our fleets comes from the bituminous regions of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania. This coal is shipped from the mines to the coast, the principal tidewater ports on the Atlantic coast being Philadelphia, New York and Hampton Roads, Va. Government colliers carry the coal from these ports to the various coaling stations of the navy in Atlantic, Pacific and Asiatic waters.

The chief coaling stations are at Bradford, in the state of Rhode Island; San Francisco; Honolulu, Cavite, P. I., and smaller stocks at Guantanamo, Samoa and Guam. The supply at these stations is kept up to the required standard by frequent shipments from the Atlantic seaboard ports mentioned in naval colliers or in chartered merchant vessels.

The navy standard coal used by the American fleet meets the highest tests for steaming purposes, for it gives the largest percentage of "steaming qualities" per given quantity of coal. The navy must have clean, dependable coal, for it means miles and, as far as possible, preservation of machinery.

Coaling at sea may well be called the nightmare of the navy. Every man on board, both officers and enlisted men, dreads it. Laborious, tedious and nasty, it is an unenviable duty, to be performed as quickly as possible and then forgotten with fervent sighs of relief.

The coal is lifted from the collier's hold in huge buckets raised by derricks, which carry them to the warship's chutes, the coal being dumped in great piles on deck, whence it is shoveled by the men into the chutes. Trimmers down in the bunkers do their part in properly distributing it.

The work is heavy, dusty and dirty, and rolls, hot snuggles and coffee are served to the men every two hours during coaling. To further stimulate them the ship's band often plays stirring airs.

When a warship is in port she is coaled from barges lying alongside, the coal being lifted by derricks in huge bags which hold 800 pounds of coal each. The battleship Arkansas can stow 2,754 tons of coal and the Texas 2,900 tons.

The use of fuel oil in the navy is increasing yearly and will continue to increase, as the new ships, especially the new dreadnaughts, consume oil, and more oil burners are planned for the future.

According to the navy department, there is much to be said in favor of oil. It effects a considerable reduction in fire-room complement. It is more efficient than coal in that 200 gallons of oil (two-thirds of a ton) do the work of one ton of good coal, and there is a great deal of refuse in coal (ashes, etc.), with much additional loss due to fine particles of coal going up the stacks unconsumed.

The United States navy has two oil supply ships, the Kanawha and the Mummee, each of them capable of mak-

Senorito Copper

Seven leading mining engineers have reported favorably on this remarkable property. One says, "It has the high grades of a Kennecott and the extent of a China."

The Company uses the Greenawalt Method of Extraction, producing the refined metal, 99.7% pure, at the lowest known cost.

Its first mill having a Capacity of 3,000,000 pounds a year is being built.

Shipments of 30% Copper begin this month.

ing fourteen knots an hour and carrying 7,554 tons of fuel oil. Oiling a ship does away with much of the labor and all of the dirt so trying in coaling. In part the problem of pumping the oil from the huge tank on deck into the pipes on the side of the vessel is comparatively a simple one.

Supplying oil to a ship at sea, however, is not yet satisfactorily settled. Experiments in fueling ships at sea with oil form an important item in naval strategy at this time. Just what has been accomplished in this matter of experimentation may not yet be divulged.—Providence Journal.

Plants Without Roots.

The "flower of the air" is a curious plant found in China and Japan. It is so called because it appears to have no root and is never fixed to the earth. It twines around a dry tree or sterile rock. Each shoot produces two or three flowers like a lily—white, transparent and odoriferous. It is capable of being transported 600 or 700 miles, and it grows as it travels, suspended on a twig.

"Well?"

"They can always emerge from their oriental mysticism long enough to count up the box office receipts."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"A scientist can take one bone and reconstruct a dinosaur."

"That's nothing. Our landlady can take one bone and reconstruct a dinner."—Kansas City Journal.

Why is it that a man will insist upon getting the last penny in change from a newsboy, yet willingly tip the harbor for merely doing work which he is hired to do?

Doesn't taste like the honey the Bee made, does it?

Same with cigarettes.

Our Sleep.

As a race we sleep too little. An infant's life is nearly all sleep. Gradually as the child grows older the hours of sleep are shortened. Youth till the age of twenty is reached requires fully ten hours' sleep. Although nature demands fewer hours' sleep in summer than in winter, it has been proved that eight hours of sleep are required for the average adult in good health. By this is meant not simply eight hours in bed, but that amount of good, sound, restful sleep after night. Our power to work is intimately related to our ability to sleep, and there is no more reliable indication of sound health than the capacity to sleep naturally, and the more active and energetic the waking life the deeper the sleep.

Tripled Her Baking Capacity.

"One day, when baking cookies," says a housewife in the Woman's Home Companion, "I expressed a wish for larger pans. My husband said, 'Why not have some made to fit the oven?' He then measured the grate and went down to the hardware store. In a few days I had two Russia iron pans 19 1/2 by 15 1/2 inches and one inch deep. As these pans held three dozens of cookies I can do my baking very much more quickly than I could with the old pans, which only held twelve cookies."

"COME BACK" OF WOOD

"Smoky Joe" Says His Salary "Souper" Is Right.

Manager Fohl of Cleveland Indians Believes He Has Strengthened His Team by Purchase of Famous Red Sox Twirler.

(By JACK VELOCK, International News Sports Editor.)

If Joe Wood proves himself the "Smoky Joe" of yore the American League race this year is going to be tighter than it could possibly be without him.

Joe says the good old salary "souper" is right once again, and if it is Lee Fohl's Cleveland Indians, with Wood in the box, may be expected to win many a game of ball that they might otherwise lose.

Wood's arm was a terror to the batters of the Ban Johnsonian circuit several years ago. His bulletlike speed drove many a good batter to the shelter of the "bucket," and the part he took in world's series is baseball history now.

In purchasing Wood from President Frazee of the Boston Red Sox, Manager Fohl of the Indians believes that he has greatly strengthened his club and its chances in the coming race, for, if Guy Morton's arm is really fit for yeoman service again, he and Wood will be terrors on the mound. They ought to be good for a total of 36 victories between them at the lowest estimate. But, of course, they will have to pitch bang-up ball.

Last year Smoky Joe did no work on the mound. He laid off to give his arm a long rest, and he refused to report to the Red Sox despite all manner of entreaties on the part of Manager Carrigan and President Joe Lannin during the winter of 1915-16. It has been said that Wood and Lannin were on the outs, but friends of Wood claim that he felt it would be unjust to accept a salary unless he could pitch for it, and if this report is true Wood is certainly an extraordinary ball player.

Friends of the famous pitcher in major league baseball are convinced that he would not consent to try a "come back" if he had any misgivings regarding his pitching wing. No player will start the American league race with more friends pulling for him than Wood.

Ban Johnson is a great admirer of Smoky Joe. When the Federal league was formed Jim Gilmore's agents attempted to persuade Wood to take the hurdles from organized ball, and he was offered a two-year contract calling for $20,000. But he turned it down cold, and he also lost a year's salary by refusing to join the Red Sox. A player who shows such principles deserves consideration.

The trouble with Wood's arm lay in the smaller pitching muscles and the nerves leading to the arm. He consulted a chiropractor and took a series of massage treatments that removed the trouble. Since discovering that Wood's fingering arm has been pronounced sound as ever many pitchers who are nursing their soupers along from year to year have decided to try the same remedy Wood has apparently found successful. It is said that Christy Mathewson has announced his intention of taking the treatment.

DID NOT SIGN FOR BRAVERY

Third Baseman, Worried by Opposing Batmen Driving Hot Liners at Him, Replies to Fans.

Bill Donovan of the Yankees told this yarn recently. Bill swears that it is true:
"An old-time Buffalo player," began Wild William, "was having quite a strenuous afternoon at third base. The visiting players were constantly driving the ball down the third base line at a mile-a-minute gait. This player fielded several of the drives, one of which nearly knocked him off his pins, and then he decided that he would let any others that came his way go by."
"The opposing batters kept driving them down, but the third baseman made no apparent effort to stop the ball."

"When he came to bat in the next inning the crowd boomed and hissed him without regard to his feelings. He was game, however, and, after turning around and taking off his cap, shouted:
"I signed with this club for my skill, not for my bravery."

A PATRON OF ART.

He Was a Good Bluffer, but De Wint Called His Hand.

Peter de Wint, the English landscape painter, was accustomed each year to have a semiprivate show of his pictures before sending them to the Water Color society's exhibition. On such occasions his friends frequently bought pictures, which, of course, appeared at the public exhibition marked "Sold."

Among the painter's friends was a wealthy man who wanted to appear a patron of art and at the same time to keep his money. He managed this by loudly admiring the paintings already sold. He was always a bit late to buy the pictures that pleased him most and, having seen them, he could never content himself with less beautiful works.

De Wint at last suspected the man's sincerity, and when the next show day came round he concluded to test him. After plenty of time had been allowed for De Wint's friends to make their purchases, the rich man arrived. As usual, his eye soon fell on two "perfect gems" marked "Sold." Turning to the artist, he said, "Now, De Wint, those are exactly the things I should like to possess; what a pity they are not to be had."

"My dear sir," said the painter, slapping him on the back, "I knew you would like them, so I put the tickets on them to keep them for you."

A LESSON IN THRIFT.

How a Young Man Can Lay the Foundation of an Old Age Income.

In "The Family's Money" in the American Magazine a father asks his son why he does not increase his income every year in the following manner: "Suppose you save $250 a year, or about $5 a week. You could do that and not suffer. Invest that money in a sound 6 per cent security. During the second year it will earn for you $15, giving you an increase of $125 a month. Add your interest gain to the principal, and at the end of the second year you will have $515 working for you."

"At the close of the fourth year you will have a capital invested of $1,062, which during the fifth year will give you $65, or more than $5 a month. Of course each year is adding to your principal and your income. When the eighth year comes to an end you will possess capital of $2,470, which during the ninth year will earn $148, or more than $12 a month, and that is not an amount to laugh at."

"At the end of the twentieth year you have $9,180, which during the following year will earn $550, or more than $45 a month. When that year closes you will possess capital of practically $10,000, which will give you an income increase of $800 per annum, or $50 a month."

Gratitude!

An unusual form of testamentary gratitude is recorded in the diary of Henry Greville. "A man who had spent much of his time in fishing left a direction in his will that as he had derived much nourishment as well as pleasure from the fish he had caught at Chertsey it was only fair to the descendants of those fish that he in return should be come their food. He therefore desired that his body should be cast into the Thames at Chertsey."—London Tatler.

American Mineral Oil

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT

Use of Mineral Oil.

Dr. Le Tanneur contributes to the Paris Medical some practical points in the use of mineral oil in constipation. The oil, he says, is in no way digested or even modified by the juices of the stomach and intestines. It acts as a lubricant and nothing else, though it tends to heal abrasions of the intestinal wall caused by rough particles of food.

The New York Medical Journal says mineral oil should be taken either before breakfast or after dinner, two tablespoonfuls being a dose. Its use should be continued every day for at least a fortnight, when the bowels will continue to work naturally without it, for the mineral oil is in no sense a cathartic, but it will cure constipation.—Kingston Daily Freeman, February 17, 1917.

KINGSTON TO GET A REAL THRILLER

Weather Stirs Interest in Big Indoor Circus at Y. M. C. A. Gym—Today Out-Hamiltoned by This Notice of Stupendous Spectacle.

It's a little early in the season for the circus to come to Kingston, but we are getting to be more and more New York in our customs, so why shouldn't we have an indoor circus in March just as the big city has?

We have no Madison Square Garden but we have a Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and that's the place the circus will open tomorrow for a continuous run of two nights.

Bayrum and Bigling's big show with menagerie, sideshows and specialties will draw a big crowd. The doors will open at 6:30, the side show at 7, and the main performance at 8:15.

The attractions of this circus comprise a truly astonishing array of acrobats, boxers, wrestlers, dancers and sensational specialties.

A troupe of Japanese geisha girls in native costumes with parasols will prove a big attraction, and the Grecian statues by living models are indescribably beautiful. This last act has been censored by the board and pronounced 99 and forty-four hundredths pure, so people may safely bring the children.

The capture of Villa, a realistic pantomime drama, provides the military interest which is necessary to every performance in these stirring times.

One of the most delightful numbers on the program will be the Russian dancer, Madam Slopolova, who has never before appeared in this country. She danced before the czar a few weeks ago at the royal theater in Petrograd and some have been unkind enough to say that was why he abdicated the throne. It is true that he never before had seen anything like her performance. Neither has anybody else. Madam Slopolova crossed the ocean in a submarine, and to keep herself in training during the voyage she spent hours standing with one foot on the periscope and the other toe pointing to the sun.

The closing number on the program will be the hippodrome races, a series of hair-raising acts around the ring.

If you want every sensation that a circus can give, do not miss the performance at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday or Wednesday evenings of this week.

LES DARCY SIGNS FOR OHIO BATTLE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 26.—Les Darcy has finally signed for a fight. He has agreed to go ten rounds with either George Chip or Jim Flynn at Cedar Point, Ohio, April 12. Darcy will receive $10,000 or the privilege of taking forty-five per cent of the gate receipts.

Darcy has also signed articles to fight in New Orleans on May 4. He gives Promoter Tortorich the privilege of naming his opponent. Jack Dillon has already signed to fight Darcy in New Orleans. This will be a 20-round bout.

Darcy and his trainers and sparring partners will leave New York tomorrow for Cleveland, to train for the Cedar Point fight.

HATCH CHICKENS EARLY.

A Tip on How to Obtain a More Steady Supply of Eggs.

Nature requires her subjects to take an annual vacation, and the moulting season, which begins in late summer, is the holiday time for hens. The hens stop laying and change their old feather dress for a new one, requiring three or four months in the operation. When the hens take this vacation new laid eggs are scarce and remain scarce until the pullets hatched during the preceding spring begin to lay.

The remedy is very simple and is under the control of the poultryman. The first step is to have chickens hatched early, so that the pullets begin to lay when the hens begin to moult. This is not difficult. Pullets of the American breeds begin laying at about seven months of age. Leghorn pullets begin when about six months old. North of the Ohio river this means that all hatching must be over by May 1 at the latest. The best plan is to have the chickens coming at intervals during March and April. The earliest hatched pullets will, of course, begin to lay first. If any of them begin to moult their places will be taken by the later ones, and a steady supply of eggs will be more certain.

The difficulty in the way of the practical application of this matter is that so many poultry keepers are dependent on hens for hatching. As long as we have late hatched chickens we will have late sitters. The poultry keeper who wants to change from the late hatching to early hatching must therefore either get broody hens from some one else or use an incubator. After he has "hatched the dates" on his flock he will have no trouble, especially with the American breeds.—New York Sun.

Spider Knows the Signs.

The spider is an excellent guide to the weather. Not only is he extremely sensitive to the state of the atmosphere, but he takes a keen interest in the habits of flying insects. He knows that these do not come out in the wet. When, therefore, he is "reeling," you may be certain that he is expecting rain. But should he be busy constructing a new web, it is a sign that he is looking forward to a fine spell—and he is generally right.

How to Carry Water.

If you want to carry a full pail of water any distance without spilling or to carry water from one room to another in a flat dish or tray you should always have something floating on it. If it is drinking water a clean saucer will do, and a flat piece of wood is the best thing for a pail. It is the little waves that arise from the water's lapping against the sides and then rushing to the other side that makes the water spill over. The floating stops this.—New York Sun.

U. S. MAY LEND ALLIES HUGE FINANCIAL AID.

W. P. D. Harding, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, and Paul M. Warburg, vice-governor of the Federal Reserve Board, in whose hands the financial aid it is planned to have the United States lend the Allies in case of war with Germany, would rest. It is said that the most welcome assistance the United States could give the Allies at the present time would be some sort of financial support. Plans are said to have been laid to have the United States lend the Allies $1,000,000,000 immediately after a declaration of war is made, the money to be spent in this country for the purchase of supplies and munitions.

The interleague series between the clubs of the International league and the American Association next fall is bound to attract the attention of fans all over the country.

With a purse of $10,000 to fight for, the players in the league will have quite a plum dangled before their eyes. Each league will put up $5,000 or half the purse, and the league which wins the series will capture the other half. The series will be divided between the eight clubs of the two leagues.

The fact that players' salaries will be going on as in the regular season makes the purse money pure velvet for the winning leaguers, and with the big series to look forward to, every club in both leagues will be on its toes throughout the regular schedule of 112 games.

RED SOX TRAIN IN HONOLULU

Business Men of Hawaiian City Make Offer to Have Boston Team Do Preparing There.

The Boston Red Sox are likely to train in Honolulu in 1915. Business men of Honolulu have made an offer to have the team do its spring training there next year and it is possible President Harry H. Frazee will accept. The Hawaiians are so anxious to have the Red Sox set in shape in the islands that they have agreed to pay all of their expenses while they are there and also their transportation expenses to and from San Francisco.

Silver in Early Times.

In very early times silver was used for ornaments. Spain appears to have been the chief source from which silver was obtained by the ancients. It is thought the hills of Palestine may have furnished some supply of this metal.

Camel Cigarettes

The stamp placed over each and every cigarette, which keeps out air, thereby preserving the quality of the blended tobacco. By inserting the fingers as illustrated the stamp easily breaks without tearing the tin foil, which folds back into its place.

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages, 20 for 10c; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine paper covered container for $1.00. We strongly recommend this container for the home or office supply or when you travel.

EATING FOR HIS LIFE.

Story of One Man Who Did Not Dig His Grave With His Teeth.

In the American Magazine a writer tells the case of Luigi Cornaro, to whom he acknowledged his debt of health.

"Luigi," he says, "was an Italian nobleman of the middle ages. He had money enough and leisure enough so that Satan found plenty of work for his idle hands during his first forty years. About his fortieth birthday he fell sick, and the doctors told him to make his will, as he could not possibly live another year."

"Luigi died at 104 painlessly, 'as one who passes into a sweet sleep,' in the words of his granddaughter.

"What gave him those extra sixty-four years of life? Not doctors—he had nothing to do with them, not medicine; not exercise. Luigi simply stopped eating! He made a careful study of himself to discover just how little food he could eat and still feel well. Out of this study he soon learned the valuable truth that 'most men dig their graves with their teeth.'"

"Most men die because they have so loaded their bodies with excess food that their organs of elimination have broken under the strain. Most men are tired because they are self-poisoned with too much food. All this Luigi discovered and wrote in a book called the 'Temperate Life.'"

"Aside from the fact that I belong to a family that grows stronger as it grows older, I owe to Luigi more than to any one else the good health and happiness which I enjoy today at thirty."

Perfect Poetry.

Who wrote the most perfect lines of English poetry? Personally, writes a correspondent, I find it hard to choose between Shelley's

His head was bound with panies overblown
And faded violets, white and pied and blue;

Tennyson's
Music, that gentler on the spirit lies
Than tired eyelids upon tired eyes,

and Swinburne's
I found in dreams a place of wind and flowers,
Full of sweet trees and color of glad grass.

—London Chronicle.

How the Ancients Regarded Iron.
The ancient Egyptians believed that iron was the bone of Typhon, the enemy of Osiris, and for this reason it was considered impure. No one could make use of it, even for the most ordinary requirements of life without polluting his soul in a way to cause him harm both on earth and in the other world.

Logical Conclusion.

"I feel all gone to pieces this morning."

"What do you think is the matter?"

"I suppose it is because I am broke."—Baltimore American.

Deacon Blimber Says:

"I teller kin forgive his enemies easy enough, but consarned if it don't come poety dig hard sometimes for him to forgive his friends."—Browning's Magazine.

Considerate.

Walton—Alfie says he married a rich woman in order that his wife might have everything she wanted.—Life.

Not Product of Nature.

The natural products of the Arabian deserts and other oriental regions which bear the name of manna have not the qualities of the manna of the Bible which the Israelites fed upon for 40 years until they got the new corn of the land of Canaan. The manna of the Scriptures may be regarded as wholly miraculous and not in any respect a product of nature.

Wellington's Slip.

The unsettled state of Irish affairs reminds of a slip made by the Duke of Wellington during a house of lords debate on Ireland. In the course of his speech he mentioned that two clergymen had been murdered in Ireland. A noble lord on the other side of the house rose at once to correct him. "No, no; only one." "Only one?" rejoined the duke. "Well, if I am mistaken I'm sorry."

Things That Make Humanity.

Love, hope, fear, faith; these make humanity, and these are its sign and note and character.—Browning.

Unique Method.

That western man who advertised that he would not be responsible for any debts contracted by himself or anyone else certainly has hit upon a unique method of reducing the cost of living.

New Varnish.

A new varnish which, when applied to metal, gives it a crystallized effect, is now on the market and is known as crystallizing lacquer. It is as yet to be had only in black and is a transparent varnish that gives the effect of frosted glass except that the design is not so regular. Hat ornaments, belt buckles, buttons and all sorts of articles may be coated with it with excellent results.

Chalmers Lynite Pistons

An Evidence of Chalmers Quality

Chalmers pistons are made from one of the lightest and highest-grade metals obtainable—Lynite, a special alloy of aluminum.

Most cars use heavy cast iron pistons. Much cheaper. Much reduced efficiency.

12½-Ounce Pistons

Chalmers pistons weigh only twelve and a half ounces each. About one-third the weight of cast iron pistons. Each one of these Chalmers pistons is true to its die. All pistons are exactly equal in weight.

No greater variation than ¼-ounce is tolerated in any of the reciprocating parts of the Chalmers.

Importance of Lightness.

A light piston insures smoothness and power. Lighter pistons allow other motor parts of corresponding lightness. Lynite pistons reduce the strain on the bearings 160 pounds per square inch over the cast iron piston.

The wonderful smoothness of the Chalmers at all speeds is largely due to the lightness of the pistons. So also is the motor's remarkable power.

Compression—Power

Chalmers pistons are provided with three rings of uniform tension, each, three-sixteenths of an inch wide. This means better compression—more power.

Below the lowest ring there are oil relief holes to prevent any excess of oil from reaching the combustion chambers.

The above is what we mean by quality in Pistons. The kind of quality you need in the pistons in the car you buy. And the kind of quality you GET in the Chalmers.
